STM President's Address

The Prairie Centre for the Study of Ukrainian Heritage is now completing its eighth year as an academic research unit at St. Thomas More College. Through lectures, art exhibits, and the work of the Heritage Press, the Centre makes an enduring contribution to the culture of Saskatchewan, Canada, and Ukraine. This year we feel especially blessed by the addition of Dr. Anna Klimina to the academic staff of St. Thomas More College in the Department of Economics, specializing in the transitional economy of Ukraine. I would like to join in welcoming her to the College and to the PCUH. As well I wish to thank Dr. Natalia Shostak for her service as Director of the Centre and for guiding the Summer Semester in Ukraine, 2006. We wish the PCUH continued success in the years to come.

PCUH in 2006/07: A message from the Director

The academic year of 2006-07 leagues whose expertise dihas been another year of success and transition for the PCUH. With much reorganization taking place at St. Thomas More College, our home institution, PCUH embraced change yet again, welcoming on board new col-rectly benefits the activities of the centre and new possibilities for future growth. Our programs, for which we are known at the University, in the province and beyond, continued their successful work and their activities are profiled in detail in this newsletter. The most exciting change which we experienced this year, of course, concerns the arrival of new people we now work with. It gives me a great pleasure to introduce our new PCUH faculty associate Dr. Anna Klimina, who has recently joined the department of Economics at STM. Dr. Klimina earned her Candidate of Sciences Degree in Economics from the National Academy of Sciences of Ukraine in 1992, and her PhD in Economics from the University of Manitoba in 2004. In Ukraine she held research and teaching positions with the National Academy of Sciences, Ukrainian State Pedagogical University, and Kyiv-Mohyla Academy. As a Visiting Scholar she researched at Temple University (1995) and at Harvard University (1996). Dr. Klimina's articles and book chapters appeared in Economy of Ukraine, Problems of Political Economy, History of National Economy and Economic Thought, Krytyka, and in various book collections. She came to STM

Dr. Anna Klimina, Department of Economics, STM

from St. Francis Xavier University where she was an assistant professor of Economics (2005-2006). Her research in transitional and emerging markets, problems of cultural equilibrium and its modeling with respect to economic transformation in former Soviet Union and Ukraine, will add to the profile of academic research at PCUH.

PCUH work relies not only on faculty members who coordinate its various projects, but on the work of many other individuals. The arrival of Mr. Rodney Antonichuk to STM was of great importance to us. Rod became the Director of External Relations for STM in January 2007. Prior to joining the College, Rod was the President and CEO of Junior Achievement of Saskatchewan. A U of S graduate with a B.A. in Political Studies, Mr. Antonichuk has been active in the community through various roles; Vice-President of Facilities for the 2004 Brier; Chair of the Mentorship Committee for Leadership Saskatoon; as well as serving on the Board of Directors for Illarion Ukrainian Senior Citizen's Home. In 2006, his achievements earned him the Saskatchewan Centennial Medal for his range of contributions to the community through leadership, volunteerism, and community involvement. Rod was named one of Saskatoon's 100 People, 100 Reasons, which recognizes the exceptional contributions of 100 citizens of the city of Saskatoon as it celebrated it centennial in 2006. PCUH welcomes Mr. Antonichuk to STM.

His expertise and energy will greatly benefit the centre's work.

Throughout the year, PCUH activities continued to attest to the growing impact the centre has on local, national, and international communities. On the international arena, PCUH work goes beyond offering our successful extended summer semester in Ukraine coordinated by Dr. Shostak (p.3). In May 2006, PCUH Associate Dr. Bohdan Kordan was tasked by the U of S to travel to Chernivtsi, Ukraine, where together with his UofS colleague Dr. Morris Altman he visited Chernivtsi National University. There, the scholars undertook an assessment of the long-standing UofS/CNU relationship and exchange program. Also last year, PCUH initiated and co-organized the first Ukrainian all-national seminar in Oral History in Lviv, Ukraine. Dr. Shostak, project initiator, presented on the role of oral historical research in Ukrainian studies in Canada and PCUH contributions to it (see p. 4).

Academic work and professional service by PCUH associates continue to be recognized nationally. Dr. Kordan, a member of the Board of the Toronto-based Canadian Foundation of Ukrainian Studies since 2003, was elected Vice President of the Foundation in November 2006. The year 2007 also marks the 7th year of service for Dr. Kordan on the Neporany Fellowship Committee which administers the most prestigious postgraduate/graduate award in Ukrainian studies in Canada. Dr. Shostak's research on the diasporic 'other' in Ukrainian culture, spanning communities in Western Canada, Ukraine, Italy and Portugal, has won the prestigious national research grant from Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada. This award will allow Dr. Shostak to open up a MA assistantship for one year for a student pursuing graduate work at the U of S. An expert in many languages, Dr. Viktor Buyniak, Professor Emeritus, U of S, and long term supporter and founder of PCUH, completed an important translation into English of a multilingual roster of "Fonds of the Central Historical Archives of Ukraine in Lviv," the work published by East European Genealogist (Vol. 14, No. 1&2, 2005).

The expansion of our team and the above initiatives have been undertaken with a clear goal in mind, to directly contribute to the quality and sustainability of Ukrainian Studies at the University of Saskatchewan. I invite you to explore various PCUH projects, profiled in this newsletter or on PCUH website. I also invite you to join us in all our future undertakings.

Projects Update:

SUMMER SEMESTER IN UKRAINE 2006

SSU 2006 students on a fieldtrip to the city of Halych.

Summer Semester in Ukraine took place May-July of 2006. It has been our fourth time traveling to Ukraine and the second year of collaborating with Ternopil National Pedagogical University. What was new in 2006?

As usual, SSU was divided in two sessions in which students first pursued the study of the Ukrainian language and then the study of culture. In 2006, cultural program included two courses in anthropology, one being Anthropological Perspectives on Ukraine, and other Oral History and Storytelling, both taught by Dr. Shostak (STM).

The variety of courses and the fact that our program offers excellent quality instruction at all three levels of the Ukrainian language (beginning, intermediate and the advanced levels) made our program highly attractive to students. Twelve students registered in the program through the U of S; four of them represented all-Canadian Program Intercordia, one MacEwan College, Edmonton, Alberta, and one Carlton University, Ottawa.

We pride ourselves on offering our students extensive on-thego study program. In addition to working in Ternopil, students studied in Kyiv, Lviv (in Catholic University), Kam'ianets-Podilsky; visited various other cities, their museums, art galleries, and theatres; explored numerous medieval castles and monasteries of Western Ukraine; conducted oral history interviews in the village in the Carpathian mountains; and even climbed the highest mountain of Ukraine, Hoverla (2,061 m), the latter already being our program's tradition! Learning experience was further enhanced by the home-stay experience. Each student lived in a host family and had an opportunity to share their lives, to go to their home villages, and socialize with their extended kin.

One of the most exciting developments for us this year was to host Intercordia students in our program. Four students from Ontario studied the Ukrainian language with us, and two stayed behind to work in the local residential school for the young girls with disabilities. SSU students joined their peers from Intercordia in their work with these children. A trip to the girl's school was organized and the students later continued their visitations individually. It was a very meaningful experience for all of us. This opportunity grew out of SSU 2005 initiative to explore the possibility of offering an internship in social justice, researched by then STM professor Prof. Maria Truchan Tataryn.

Another important development was the participation of one of our language professors, Dr. Larysa Verhun in the Slavic Languages workshop held at Duke University in June 2006, a trip organized by SSU. We are proud to support our local faculty in their professional development. Dr. Verhun's visit to the USA builds on previous opportunities provided for local faculty by SSU. SSU is grateful to our partners and especially to Dr. Olena Huzar, TNPU Local Program Director, for their ongoing contribution to the success of our program.

ORAL HISTORY NEWS

The PCUH Oral History Project is an important ongoing research initiative of the centre. It began in 2002, when Dr. Theresa Zolner, then a PCUH associate, and Dr. Natalia Shostak came together to coordinate project "Sociocultural Change amongst the Ukrainian Canadians on the Prairies." The objectives of the project have been: (a) to document the historical and biographical experiences of Ukrainian Canadians in the context of socio-economic change in the latter half of the 20th century; (b) to evidence their contribution to the development of the Canadian Prairies; (c) to record their attitudes and views on cultural plurality in Western Canada.

What better way to find the answers to the questions above than by talking to people directly? Understanding this, the project coordinators have chosen to pursue their research using the methodology of oral history, and specifically the method of life story interviewing. In 2002, four interviewers, two coordinators and two student assistants, Anastasia Tataryn and Angie Wojcichowsky, conducted 120 interviews in various communities of Saskatchewan and Alberta. During its interview phase, the project was financially supported by the U of S Summer Student Employment Program (USTEP), St. Thomas More College, and PCUH.

Oral history research is done not on people, but with people. Ituna 2002.

With more funding becoming available in 2006, the project materials are now being processed. Most of the original tapes are being documented, the database for the field materials is being created, and the interview themes are being identified. PCUH Graduate Fellow Serhiy Kostyuk is to be credited for the work completed thus far during the second phase of the project. The work on this project will continue in the future.

PCUH would like to thank all participants who volunteered their time and shared with us their stories, for their contribution to the study of the Ukrainian heritage on the prairies. Without your good will and effort this project would not be possible.

ORAL HISTORY SEMINAR: Lviv, Ukraine

PCUH work in the field of oral history contributes to the overall qualitative shift in Ukrainian Studies, from focusing on macrohistory toward more people-oriented research aimed at the analysis of historical memory and identity formation of various social, ethnic, gender, religious groups and individuals. At PCUH we realize the need for a dialogue with other scholars to be successful in our own research. Building on its earlier work in the field of oral history research (Orality and Literacry Symposium 2004), PCUH initiated and coorganized, together with the Institute of Church History, Ukrainian Catholic University (Dr. Oleh Turij, Director) and the Institute of Ethnology, Academy of Sciences, Lviv (Dr. Oksana Kis), first all-national seminar Oral History and Sociocultural Change in Times of Transition. The seminar took place in Lviv, May 19-22, 2006, and brought together twenty scholars from diverse disciplinary backgrounds (history, ethnic studies, anthropology, religious studies, and sociology), and various regions (Lviv, Kharkiv, Kviv, Odesa, Pereiaslav-Khmelnytsky).

Dr. Keith Carlson, History Department, U of S, delivered keynote address Oral history: from scholarship to agency, or How oral history can help the communities under research. Half a year later, another important initiative grew out of this work: in October 2006 first ever Ukrainian Oral History Association was formed. Selected papers from this workshop are currently being prepared for publication.

Our very special thanks go to Dr. Oksana Kis, Institute of Ethnology, Lviv, for coordinating this project in Ukraine.

MOHYLA LECTURE 2006/07

The Mohyla Lecture Series is a major public event organized by PCUH on the University of Saskatchewan campus, and is designed to profile the best scholarship in the field of Ukrainian and Ukrainian Canadian studies. This academic year we were delighted to host a renown Ukrainian historian Dr. Serhii Plokhii. Dr.

Plokhii is the Research Program Director on Religion and Culture, Canadian Institute of Ukrainian Studies; Associate Director of the Peter Jacyk Centre, University of Alberta; and Professor in the Department of History and Classics, University of Alberta.

In the academic world and beyond, Dr. Plokhii is known for his numerous books dealing with the world of Slavic nations, Ukrainian history, Cossackdom, religion and society in Ukraine and the Russian Empire, which appear in the best publishing houses of the world.

Dr. Plokhii delivers 2007 Mohyla Lecture

Dr. Plokhii's lecture, Ukraine's Quest for Europe: A Historian's Perspective, was held on February 23, 2007, at St. Thomas More College. The lecture was well received. Dr. Plokhii also held office hours for graduate students on our campus. Ms. Orysia Ehrmantraut, graduate student in History department researching Ukrainian Orthodox Autocephalous Church in Ukraine, especially benefited from this arrangement. We thank Dr. Plokhii for his visit to the U of S.

EMBRACE/В ОБІЙМАХ: Photo Exhibit of Ukraine by Lara Zaluski

"These photographs are my travelogue and tribute to the people of Ukraine who so graciously and warmly opened their hearts, their homes and their lives to me..."

Lara Zaluski

From January-March 2007, the Saskatchewan community had a unique opportunity to view a photo exhibit of the young photographer, former participant in Summer Semester in Ukraine, Ms. Lara Zaluski. EMBRACE/B OBITIMAX, a photo exhibit of Ukraine, was co-organized by the PCUH and STM Art Gallery where the show was first displayed in January - February, 2007, to much critical acclaim.

Lara Zaluski has traveled to Ukraine to study with SSU in 2005. In Ukraine, all her time outside classes she devoted to exploring the country of her grandparents. She has done this with her heart wide open, letting everything she would discover settle deep down in her soul and getting all her encounters documented on film. An ethnographic diary of a kind, her photography speaks not only of Ukraine but of how much a young Canadian woman, who grew up across the ocean and generations apart from her ancestral kin, embraced the land and its people in discovery of her own self. Out of two thousand pictures she took with her cheap camera from Superstore, and developed in Ukraine (never mind the extra suitcase to travel with!), only twenty made it into the show. Yet, they are representative of Zaluski's take on Ukraine. Each image emanates much kindness which is certainly a projection of the photographer's attitude towards her subjects and her surroundings.

After its Saskatoon premiere, the show made its way down to Regina, the provincial capital, where it was displayed in Regina's Provincial Court House. The plans are being made to have Lara's photogra-

That is why we believe in our students, of whatever background they are, and in their desire to learn about themselves, others, and the world beyond. Investing in knowledge, research, and in our students is investing in our future.

Dear Sirs:

Enclosed is a cheque, a donation towards the wonderful projects which you are engaged in. This gesture was initiated by a calendar sent to me. It shows the various old maps of Ukrainian territories dating from the 15th century to the 18th centuries. What beautiful works of art!

I remember several years ago, our Ukrainian Studies Foundation of B.C. thought about having a lecture and display of the ancient maps you have at your Centre. But we couldn't get it together. I hope to sometime in the near future, to get the idea going again.

I wish you great success in 2007! Sincerely,
